University of Maryland Golf Course

An 18-hole semi-private championship golf course located on the north perimeter of the University of Maryland's flagship campus in College Park, the University of Maryland Golf Course is the home of the Terrapins' men's and women's golf teams.

Open year-round, the 6,700-yard championship course features a newly constructed clubhouse which was completed in April 1999. The course has long been the site of numerous state and regional tournaments, and the 35,000-sq. ft., plantation-style clubhouse has become a gathering point for campus and surrounding communities.

The clubhouse upper level features a full-service bar, grill and banquet facility that seats 75 for lunch and tournament events, and can handle groups from eight to 200 including a banquet facility whose outdoor patio overlooks the course. Its main level features management offices, a fully-equipped pro shop with the latest styles of Terrapin golf attire, men's and women's locker facilities, and a Terrapin golf suite with offices, separate locker rooms and a lounge for the Terps' men's and women's teams.

Designed by George Cobb and built in 1955, the course plays 50,000 rounds per year with preference given to students, faculty, staff and alumni. Its semi-private facilities include a 5,000-sq. ft. putting green and a 45-station driving range.

Women's Season Preview

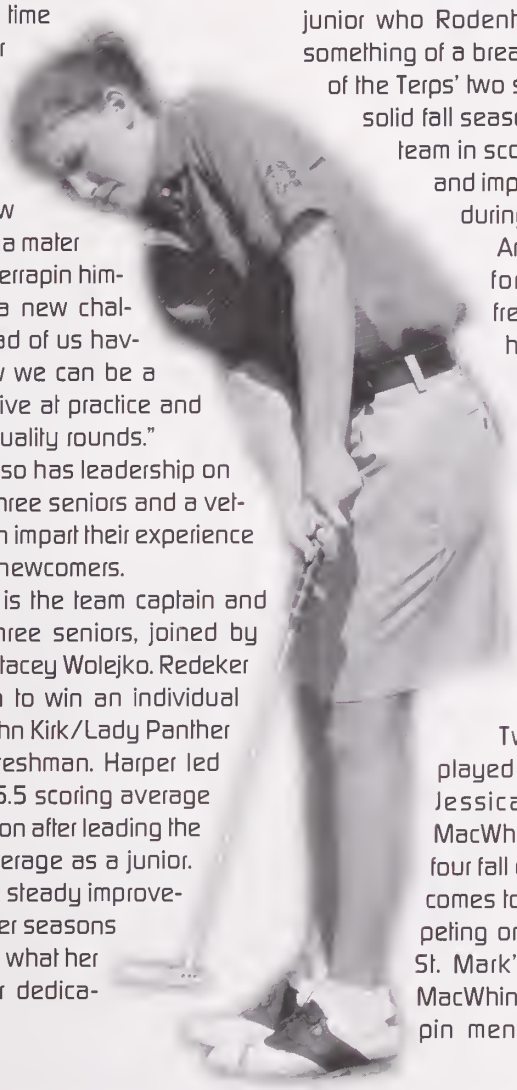
When building a new college golf program, it's one thing to have one or two good players who can star individually.

But the 2003-04 season marks a different kind of progress for Maryland head coach Jason Rodenhaver. He's got those one or two good players who can help lead the Terrapins from time to time. The fifth year of the Maryland program also brings depth, according to Rodenhaver, a new milestone for the young program.

"This is the first time we've had eight or nine quality players we can put in the lineup every time," said Rodenhaver, now coaching at his alma mater after playing as a Terrapin himself. "This will be a new challenge for us. Instead of us having a set five, now we can be a little more competitive at practice and play some good quality rounds."

Rodenhaver also has leadership on this team, having three seniors and a veteran junior who can impart their experience on some talented newcomers.

Katie Redeker is the team captain and is one of those three seniors, joined by Marie Harper and Stacey Wolejko. Redeker is the first Terrapin to win an individual title, winning the John Kirk/Lady Panther Invitational as a freshman. Harper led the Terps with a 76.5 scoring average during the fall season after leading the team in scoring average as a junior. Wolejko has made steady improvement throughout her seasons at Maryland due to what her coach says is her dedication.



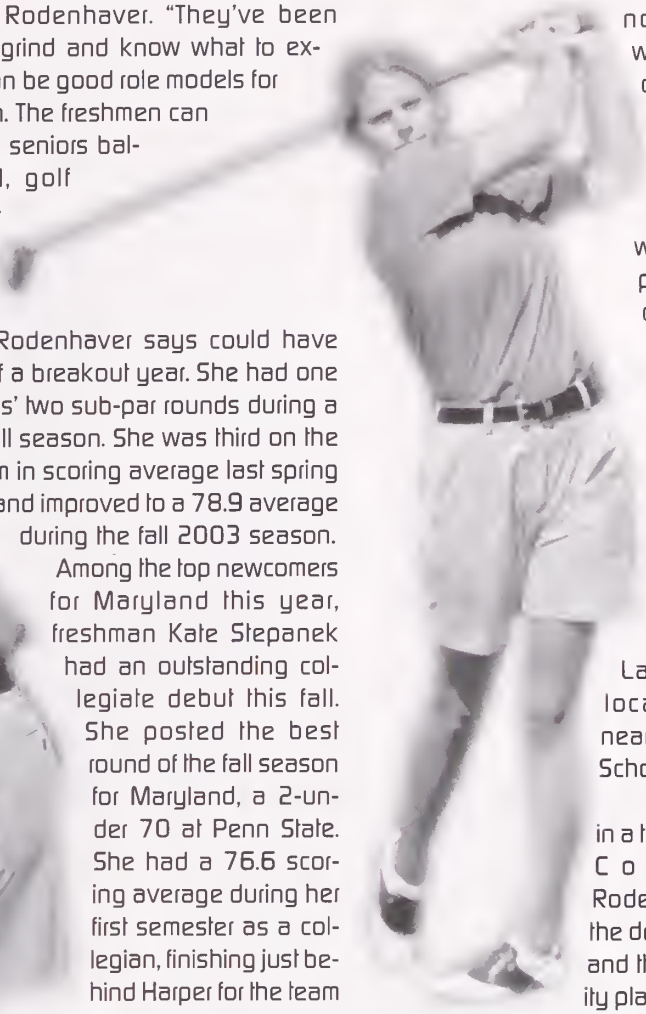
Marie Harper

"We have three seniors who have played a lot," said Rodenhaver. "They've been through the grind and know what to expect. They can be good role models for our freshmen. The freshmen can see how the seniors balance travel, golf and academics."

Kristen Shew is a junior who Rodenhaver says could have something of a breakout year. She had one of the Terps' two sub-par rounds during a solid fall season. She was third on the team in scoring average last spring and improved to a 78.9 average during the fall 2003 season.

Among the top newcomers for Maryland this year, freshman Kate Stepanek had an outstanding collegiate debut this fall. She posted the best round of the fall season for Maryland, a 2-under 70 at Penn State. She had a 76.6 scoring average during her first semester as a collegian, finishing just behind Harper for the team lead.

Two other freshmen played for the Terps in the fall, Jessica Reno and Kelly MacWhinnie. Reno played in all four fall events for Maryland and comes to College Park after competing on the men's golf team at St. Mark's School in Delaware. MacWhinnie is the sister of Terrapin men's team player Bobby MacWhinnie and is noted as a hard-worker by her new coach.



Katie Redeker

Katie Elliott is a product of Notre Dame Prep in Baltimore and will push the other players to get a chance at the lineup. Other newcomers for Maryland this year are Maggie Trainor, who qualified for the Canadian Juniors Championship while playing in Ontario, and walk-on Lauren Yamada, a local product from nearby Wootten High School in Rockville.

Despite playing in a tough Atlantic Coast Conference, Rodenhaver is hoping the depth of his program and the number of quality players pushing each other could have Maryland climbing to another new milestone in the near future.

"I hope we can have ourselves in position to receive a bid to the NCAA regionals," said Rodenhaver. "This is by far our deepest team and we've never had this many players who are quite this talented.

Women's Head Coach Jason Rodenhaver

Fifth Season at Maryland • Maryland '94

Jason Rodenhaver, who has overseen the development of the University of Maryland women's golf program since its inception in 1999, is in his fifth season as the Terrapins' head coach.

A former Terrapin player and assistant coach for the university's men's golf team, Rodenhaver was selected to oversee the women's golf program on Nov. 19, 1998. It was then that he began the enviable task of building a brand new program that launched during the fall of 1999. A professional golfer, Rodenhaver enthusiastically made the move to the coaching ranks and is creating a new era at the University of Maryland.

With his sights set firmly on developing a solid foundation for the program, Rodenhaver has been given the resources necessary to compete at the national level. His playing and coaching experiences coupled with his competitive spirit and drive to be successful can mean only one thing for the women's golf program at Maryland: eventual long-term success.

Under his guidance, the Terps made their presence known in only their second full season, tying for first place at the James Madison Lady Dukes Invitational in April 2001. On two occasions in the past three seasons, Terrapin golfers have won or shared individual tournament titles.

Rodenhaver was the assistant men's golf coach at Maryland and an assistant golf professional at the University of Maryland Golf Course when he was named to lead the newly created women's program.

"Clearly, Jason was the most qualified and the best fit for his role of our new head coach," said director of athletics Deborah A. Yow upon Rodenhaver's appointment. "Given his level of familiarity with the university and the local golf community, he will jumpstart our women's golf program, with the long-range goal of becoming a top 20 team. Women's golf is our 13th sport for female student-athletes. Its addition is the capstone to our six-year gender equity plan."

On the course, Rodenhaver has co-directed Maryland's summer camp for junior golfers and was tournament director of the State Farm Collegiate Players Tour, held at the University of Maryland Golf Course, from 1994-1998. He also organized the UM golf team reunion tournament in 1998 which helped raise $15,000 for the program.

A 1994 graduate of the University of Maryland, Rodenhaver played three seasons for the Terps and led the team to a fifth-place finish at the Atlantic Coast Conference championship in 1994. The finish was Maryland's highest in the conference championship since 1978. Rodenhaver was a two-year captain of the Terrapin men's golf team and a participant in the NCAA East Regional in 1994. He played at Southern Methodist for one season (1990-1991) before transferring to Maryland. He received his bachelor's degree in kinesiology from Maryland in 1994 and is currently pursuing his master's in business administration.

"I truly believe that we are moving in the right direction and are committed to winning both on and off the course," said Rodenhaver. "I want all of our student-athletes to excel both academically and athletically. I want them to be eager to work hard and be the best they can be every day and in every aspect of their lives."

Rodenhaver is a native of Odessa, Texas. Most of his family, including his wife, Robyn, are graduates of University of Maryland. His father is a member of the National Golf Coach's Hall of Fame and a former assistant golf coach at Maryland.

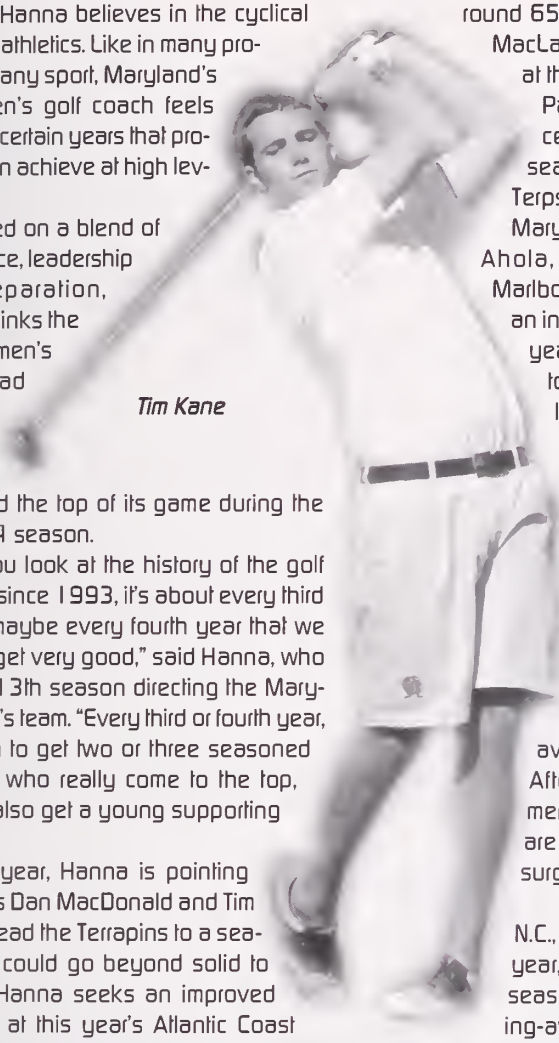
Men's Season Preview

Tom Hanna believes in the cyclical nature of athletics. Like in many programs in any sport, Maryland's head men's golf coach feels there are certain years that programs can achieve at high levels.

Based on a blend of experience, leadership and preparation, Hanna thinks the Terrapin men's golf squad could be at the top of a cycle and the top of its game during the 2003-04 season.



Tim Kane

"If you look at the history of the golf program since 1993, it's about every third year or maybe every fourth year that we seem to get very good," said Hanna, who is in his 13th season directing the Maryland men's team. "Every third or fourth year, we seem to get two or three seasoned veterans who really come to the top, and we also get a young supporting cast."

This year, Hanna is pointing to seniors Dan MacDonald and Tim Kane to lead the Terrapins to a season that could go beyond solid to special. Hanna seeks an improved standing at this year's Atlantic Coast Conference Championship as well as a return to the NCAA Tournament.

"We've got some senior leadership," said Hanna."We've got Tim, who was a Regional All-American last year, Dan had a great summer and obviously is playing well this fall."

Kane returns after leading the Terps with a 73.8 scoring average a year ago. He won medalist honors at the Wofford Invitational, one of his team-high four top-10 placings as a junior. The senior from Simsbury, Conn., has been a fixture in the Maryland lineup since his arrival on campus.

MacDonald, a senior from Plandome, N.Y., came from three strokes back to shoot a final-round 65 to win the individual title at The MacLaughlin in late September, played at the Red Course at Bethpage State Park in New York, the site of a recent U.S. Open. He had a strong fall season in 2002 before helping the Terps in six tournaments last spring.

Maryland's third senior is Vertti Iso-Ahola, a product of nearby Upper Marlboro, Md., who is recovering from an injury suffered in a car accident last year. He is seeking to break into a tough lineup after coming to Maryland as a three-time All-Met selection at Frederick Douglass HS.

Pittsburgh native Bobby MacWhinnie is the lone junior on Maryland's squad this season. MacWhinnie had a strong freshman year, finishing second on the team with a 74.5 scoring average in Spring 2002. After playing in eight tournaments as a sophomore, the Terps are hoping for something of a resurgence from him this season.

John Eades, from Charlotte, N.C., had an outstanding freshman year, finishing the spring of his first season with the Terps atop the scoring-average list at 74.4. He led Maryland at both the NCAA East Regional and ACC Championship last year, matching Kane in posting the low score for the Terps at four tournaments a year ago.

Jeff Spradlin is another sophomore, having played well last year for the Terps after transferring from Wichita State. Spradlin, from Leawood, Kan., averaged 75.8 strokes per round in 10 tournaments for Maryland as a freshman last season.

Devin Drobbin is a redshirt freshman from Holmdel, N.J., who played in the U.S. Junior Amateur Tournament while in high school. He will provide depth and competition to those with more experience.

Hanna will blend in four freshmen whom he hopes will benefit from the senior leadership on his team.

Tyler Witman joins Maryland with outstanding promise from Rehoboth Beach, Del., and earned a top-25 finish in his collegiate debut at the Cleveland Golf Kiawah Island Intercollegiate that opened the Fall 2003 season. Witman joins a promising freshman class that also includes Hunter Bendall of Richmond, Va., Skip Clasper from Gaithersburg, Md., and Matt Schall of Jersey Shore, Pa.

"The seniors who accept the leadership role, those teams seem to play well," said Hanna."That's because they're leading by example. They're practicing, they're shooting good numbers and that's contagious.

"There's a lot of interplay that comes with the seniors being around four or five years."

Hanna said another factor in his optimism comes from a tough schedule. Maryland's battle in the ACC aids in its ability to play well in District 2 and hopefully qualify for another NCAA postseason berth.

"I think we're going to be fine," said Hanna."I'm very confident that we'll play well in a lot of tournaments. Whether we play well in the right tournaments is yet to be determined, but we should. I just want consistency."

Men's Head Coach Tom Hanna

13th Season at Maryland • Maryland '71

The obstacles that Maryland men's golf head coach Tom Hanna faced the past few seasons have become strong points as he looks to lead the Terps back amongst the nation's elite. In his 13th season at the helm of the Maryland program, Hanna has high expectations for a team which is coming off an appearance in the NCAA Regionals.

Through more than 25 years of experience in the golf business as a competitor and a coach, Hanna has built himself a strong reputation for building a relatively unknown, under-funded program into a highly competitive team on the national scene. His expertise has translated into some of the most talented programs in Maryland men's golf history, a trend he seeks to continue during the 2002-03 campaign and beyond.

Originally from Lock Haven, Pa., Hanna is no stranger to success in the golf world. During his collegiate playing career with the Terps from 1968-1971, Hanna competed in three consecutive NCAA Tournaments. After graduation, he moved on to compete on the Professional Golf Association (PGA) Tour. After a brief stint in the PGA, Hanna continued to rack up state and local titles in the Philadelphia section of the PGA. Hanna remained on the East Coast, gaining extensive experience as a head professional at several prestigious country clubs. He spent three years at Lock Haven Country Club in his hometown, before taking the head professional job at Centre Hills Country Club in nearby State College, Pa., from 1977-84. From 1985-90, Hanna was the director of golf at the Harbour Towne Golf Course in St. Michaels, Md. In 1991, he returned to his alma mater to take over the reins of the Maryland men's golf program.

The golf program has steadily improved under the supervision of Hanna, exemplified by his 1994 ACC Coach of the Year award after the Terps finished fifth at the ACC Championships, which marked the team's highest finish in 16 years.

In 2000, he guided the Terps to their second NCAA East Regional and consistent top-30 national rankings. The Terps reached the NCAA Central Regional last season.

Hanna also served as the director of the Maryland golf course, a job in which he exerted just as much energy as with the golf team. Hanna helped transform the Maryland golf course into one of the nicest, cleanest, and most popular courses in the area that is used on an annual basis to host numerous local high school golf championships. He recently relinquished his course director duties, but remains heavily involved in ensuring that it remains one of the top courses in the area. Hanna also directs several summer golf camps at the University of Maryland.

Hanna graduated from the University of Maryland in 1971 and received his bachelor's degree in physical education. Hanna and his wife, Kathy, have three children: Betsi, Thomas III, and Jessica.

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Thirteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

University of Maryland

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest-rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality. The average high school GPA of entering students has zoomed from 3.01 to nearly 3.90, and the average SATs are now more than 1270. The student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 67 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, exceeding $350 million last year. Private giving also has increased, and the university last year concluded its first campaign by topping its $350 million goal by more than $100 million. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, Fall 2002 enrollment was 25,240 undergraduate and 9,561 graduate students. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library and White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their unique interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location – just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis – enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

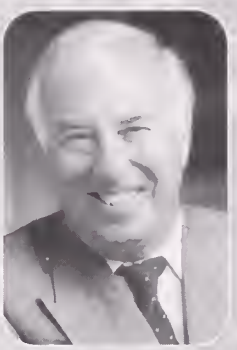
Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high-technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.



Dr. C.D. Mote

University President
California '51
Sixth Year at Maryland

When C. D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998, he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Five years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever-accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community and in the world.

Leading a great university is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, chaired one of the nation's top-ranked departments of Mechanical Engineering, and eventually became Vice Chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

The University of Maryland is the State of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by nourishing a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, providing the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's connections with its various stakeholders, building partnerships with State and national corporations and federal agencies and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress can be seen in every area, from its nationally-ranked programs to its growing range of partnerships to its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs

Over the past decade, the quality of Maryland's programs has grown by leaps and bounds. In 2003, the University of Maryland moved up to 18th place among public universities in U.S. News & World Report rankings, the first time it has broken into the top 20 in its steady climb to distinction. We currently have 49 graduate and undergraduate programs and units ranked in the top 15 by U.S. News & World Report, up from 5 eight years ago.

While our academic successes have spread across the board, the university has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, environmental policy, education and journalism. Maryland is one of only 10 public and private universities that have their programs in computer science, mathematics, physics, and engineering each ranked in the top 20, and the Robert H. Smith School of Business is one of 6 nationally ranked in both the top 10 Business Faculty in Teaching and the top 10 Business Faculty in Research.

Faculty Stature

With the addition during Mote's third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. This past year a faculty member was the recipient of the Japan Prize, an award given by the Japanese government in technology that is equivalent to the Nobel prizes. More than 30 of our faculty are members of the national academies, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including political events, international affairs, social trends, economics, the environment, science and technology.

Talented Students

Over the past 10 years, it has become a cliché to announce that each year's new freshman class is the most talented ever. The average GPA of entering students in fall 2003 is 3.9, while the average SAT score is nearly 1,300.

Not surprisingly, the number of students enrolling in honors and other special programs has also skyrocketed in recent years. Our extremely popular living-learning programs, which bring together students with similar academic interests in a residential setting, were ranked 3rd in the country in the latest U.S. News & World Report. In the last academic year, over 6,000 students enrolled in such programs as Gemstone, College Park Scholars, and the Hinman CEO Entrepreneurship Program.

Athletic Excellence

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in the 2002 NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America. "That's no accident," Mote says. "Institutions that are committed to excellence tend to be excellent in every endeavor. Our successes in basketball, lacrosse and other sports reflects our culture of quality as much as our successes in engineering, business, education and journalism."

Deborah A. Yow

Director of Athletics • 10th Year at Maryland

Deborah A. Yow is in the tenth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a year that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's nine years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships as Maryland athletics has soared to new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics three years ago is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was recently singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration. Yow was selected to serve on the U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations, as well as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television for the 2003-04 academic year. The committee, comprised of the ACC's athletics directors, is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and dealing with issues related to television. Additionally, in May, she was chosen as one of three recipients of the 2003 Women of the Year award by Women in Sports and Events.

Yow, who recently served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America. Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsible, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all nine of the annual department's budgets (the first balanced budget in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $42 million annually and the sizable prior accumulated operating debts have been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 240 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Selected recently by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In football, won the 2002 Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl and followed this with an 11-win season and a 30-3 victory over the University of Tennessee in the Peach Bowl in December. In men's basketball, the Terps advanced to the Sweet 16 in the NCAA Tournament following its second consecutive Final Four and the National Championship in 2002. The Terps are among only a few NCAA institutions to have achieved this level in both these revenue sports in the same year.

Additionally, Maryland is one of only five universities to win a National Championship in both basketball and football (UCLA, Michigan, Michigan State, Ohio State and Maryland).

- Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third-winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S.
- Field Hockey played for the National Championship in 2001.

- Women's Lacrosse has continued its winning ways and has won seven consecutive national championships through 2001.
- Enhancing football facilities significantly with Team House and practice field upgrades.
- Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center
- The athletics budget was balanced for the ninth consecutive year.
- In 2002-03, 10 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past nine years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools... to work hard and smart...to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also be highly organized, strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire athletics program, our athletics director recently stated, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the M Club members who serve and give liberally. We are also blessed with a terrific President Dr. Dan Mote, who has fostered a mindset of excellence across our institution. he is a strong and balanced advocate for what he calls 'the three A's of the University – Academics, the Arts and Athletics'. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success... and the basis for our bright future. It's a great time to be a Terp."

Academic Support & Career Development

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Kathy Fueston

Don Pearman

Led by acting associate athletics director Val Sheley, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes. Kathy Fueston works with the men's golf team and Don Pearman works with the women's golf team.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of enrichment programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, a new academic wing was added to the Gossett football team house last Fall. It features offices for two counselors, a program assistant and the learning specialist, as well as a quiet study area, 29-desk computer lab, classroom, tutor rooms and classroom/lab for the individualized learning program.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100 (First-year transitions to the university)

Maryland Gameplan

The Maryland Gameplan is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin the job search process. It is distributed to more than 500 corporations and businesses across the country, in addition to being featured on the M Club website. Prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements. The Maryland Gameplan directory is produced annually in collaboration with the M Club.

Career Networking Night

Because career development is an ongoing process, ASCDU provides a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the year. Professional assistance with resume- writing, interviewing skills, graduate school search and job search is readily available to all student-athletes. During the spring semester ASCDU hosts the Career Networking Night, where student-athletes can learn about career interests and career planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen areas of interest. Employers at the Career Networking Night recognize the marketable qualities student-athletes have gained through athletic participation. Student-athletes learn about opportunities for internships and full-time jobs.

Student-Athlete Advisory Council

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success (C.H.A.M.P.S.) Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

NCAA CHAMPS/Life Skills PROGRAM

Highlights of the CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs Commitment Statements

Commitment to Academic Excellence To support the academic progress of the student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation.

Commitment to Athletic Excellence To build philosophical foundations for the development of athletic programs that are broad-based, equitable and dedicated to the well-being of the student-athlete.

Commitment to Personal Development To support the development of a well-balanced lifestyle for student-athletes, encouraging emotional well-being, personal growth and decision-making skills.

Commitment to Career Development To encourage the student-athlete to develop and pursue career and life goals.

Commitment to Service To engage student-athletes in service to his/her campus and surrounding communities.

Academic Support For Returning Athletes Program

The Academic Support for Returning Athletes Program was created in 1986 to support the academic efforts of former varsity student-athletes at the University of Maryland, College Park. In 1989, ASRAP was assigned by the President's Office to the Academic Achievements Program and enrolled 40 students that year. As a member of the National Consortium for Academics and Sports (NCAS), the University of Maryland is committed to assisting its former athletes with degree completion. A key component of the program is community outreach. Each returning student completes a "workship" that allows the cost of tuition and fees to be exchanged for community services with youth. In 2002, ASRAP moved into the ASCDU.
